The free, temporary service available to adults ages 60 and over

STAFF REPORT

Living Well in Wabash County will now pick up and deliver pre-paid groceries and essentials within Wabash County to enable residents to remain safe at home, according to CEO Beverly Ferry.

Ferry stated a recent ruling by the Federal Transit Administration FTA temporarily approved transit pro-

For more information or to request special delivery call 260-563-7536.

The service is based upon availability.

This temporary delivery service is free to adults age 60 and older; normal one-way transit fees apply for 59 and under.

If eligible for it, there is no charge for delivery.

Through the pane: Messages of love unite quarantined family

Photos by ANDREW MACIEJEWSKI / Herald-Press

Sue Meadows points to a gift bag as she and her sister Sharon communicate with Patty Bowen, who takes care of their 95-year-old mother, Mary Jane. The family has been meeting through the window pane of Miller's Merry Manor like this for more than two weeks after the nursing home closed its doors to the public to protect residents from a novel virus called COVID-19.

By ANDREW MACIEJEWSKI
amaciejewski@h-online.com

A member of the Kline family has hugged Mary Jane every day since they dropped the 95-year-old matriarch off at the nursing home more than five years ago.

That tradition ended abruptly March 6.

It was on that day when Sue Meadows and Sharon Kline returned from a shopping trip with their mother to find Miller's Merry Manor placed in quarantine to protect its residents from the spread of COVID-19.

"We understand that they have to keep people out so they don't bring anything else in, but it's been hard," Sharon Kline said. "It's been a long two weeks."

Every day around noon, Sharon would drink coffee with Mary Jane. Each night, Sue would stop by around supper to catch up with her mom.

"This is what we've always done," Sharon said. "We used to do that when she was at home, so we just kind of keep the routine."

Now the hearing aids they bought Mary Jane on March 6 come in handy as they refuse to let the pandemic stop them from spending face-to-face time with their mother.

Their new tradition started on March 7 when Sharon and Sue knocked on a shuttered window outside the facility, waiting for Mary Jane to spread the slats of the blinds to peer out.

"Oh, she was tickled when she saw us," Sharon said. "She just kind of sat there and giggled. It just feels good to see her laugh because I know it's been long for them too, not being able to go out of their rooms and go down for their meals to socialize. But she never complains, she's just a happy camper."

Instead of sitting in the dining room with their mother,

Mary Jane blows a kiss to her daughters after opening her gift bag full of cookies, candies and other surprises. Earlier in the week, Mary Jane asked for a refill of her snack drawer after the daughters asked a question they pose each time they visit: "Do you need anything?" Sharon, Sue and the staff happily obliged, Sharon said with a laugh.

Red Cross to hold virtual 'Zero to Hero' training

Volunteers interested in disaster response amid COVID-19 concerns should register

STAFF REPORT

American Red Cross - Indiana Region's "Zero to Hero" is a free weekend training program for new and existing volunteers, preparing them to be a Red Cross Disaster Action Team (DAT) member, according to a press release.

"DAT members respond to community crises such as home fires or natural disasters. They assist and guide the victims and provide them with resources for recovery. Examples of course content include Psychological First Aid and Mass Care," stated the release.

These classes will be offered virtually through Zoom.

Participants should register by 3 p.m. Friday, March 27, at <https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/ZeroToHeroIndiana>.

Training sessions will take place from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, March 28, and from 1 to 6 p.m. Sunday, March 29.

"Zero to Hero" helps volunteers with "zero" training become a Red Cross DAT 'hero.' DAT is a group of volunteers dedicated to helping their community during a crisis. The content of this training course, which includes both instructor- and video-led courses, is usually covered in a six-week period, but the Red Cross has created a fast-track program so more volunteers can be certified and ready to respond to communities in need. The Indiana Region has pivoted in how the organization responds during coronavirus concerns to support vital services by moving normally in-person training to virtual training. There are immediate needs for volunteers to support their communities," stated the release.

Participants may register at the event as a new volunteer and receive basic skills training to respond to local disasters, such as fires.

For more information, email kristina.chapman@redcross.org or call 765-670-9150.

MSD votes to allow employees to be paid despite closures

School board approves resolution unanimously

By ROB BURGESS
Wabash Plain Dealer Editor

At Tuesday's MSD school board meeting, the signs of the times were everywhere. No audience was allowed. Public comment was solicited through the Facebook Live stream's commenting system. Several members joined via video conferencing.

And one of the items under new business was a recommendation to approve the "Resolution Authorizing Administration to Handle Work Disruption For Employees Impacted By Coronavirus."

Mike Keaffaber, MSD superintendent, said he was bringing the resolution forward because "a lot of people have been concerned about this."

Last week, Gov. Eric Holcomb issued an executive order closing all K-12 schools in the state through

Wabash Marketplace announces April First Friday cancellation

May 1 edition of the monthly program still tentatively scheduled

STAFF REPORT

First Friday in Downtown Wabash, originally scheduled for Friday, April 3, has been canceled, according to a press release.

Andrea Zwiebel, executive director, stated the Board of Directors of Wabash Marketplace decided to cancel the event prior to the Stay-At-Home Order by Gov. Eric Holcomb on Monday.

"The event usually draws large crowds. Even with social distancing, the event would exceed crowd limitations. Our decision was validated by the Stay-At-Home Order," she stated. "We plan to host First Friday events in the future. At this time, we are still proceeding with the event on May 1."

2020 First Friday events are sponsored in honor of Crossroads Bank's 100th Anniversary, 95.9 Kiss FM, Beacon Credit Union, Grow Wabash County, Wabash Plain Dealer, and Wabash Marketplace.

For more information, visit www.wabashmarketplace.org, or call 260-563-0975.

they now drop a package off on the front porch, call the front desk and make their way to the back of the facility, armed with dry erase boards.

“They are getting so used to us being out there that they come and put the blinds up for us,” Sharon said with a laugh. “They are so great. The staff, the girls, the aides, they’re wonderful. They are good to mom and it really lifts her up. It makes my heart feel good since I can’t hug her in-person. At least this way we can see her.”

On Thursday before Mary Jane blew the sisters a kiss goodbye, she beamed as she opened a package from her daughters filled with dry erase markers, a sweater and goodies.

No matter if it’s through a window pane, through a phone or computer screen, the sisters said they cherish every moment they can spend with her.

“Sometimes it may only be five or ten minutes, but to mom five minutes or five hours, it doesn’t matter,” Sue said. “She gets to see us, and she’s always happy.”

Although the family is used to spending more time together, Sharon said she thinks Mary Jane is getting used to the routine.

“It’s hard because we want to hug her,” Sharon said. “We want to be there to hug her, but on the same token, we can see her smile, we can see that she’s fine and we know that

Mary Jane smiles at her daughters as they write salutations outside of her window on March 19.

so that’s piece of mind for us. We still have that communication.”

Sue said she thanks God every day to get to see her mother, and Sharon said that tradition won’t be ending any time soon.

“As long as we need to do it, that’s what we’ll do,” she said.

Hip replacement surgery should be last resort

DEAR DOCTOR: How do I know if I need a hip replacement? My right hip gets so stiff after I’ve been sitting at work for a few hours that I can hardly walk, and then it aches for the rest of the day and night.

Elizabeth Ko & Eve Glazier
Ask the Doctors

DEAR READER: The hip is one of the largest weight-bearing joints of the body. Its unique structure lets humans stand and walk upright and gives our legs and torso an impressively wide range of motion. It is a ball-and-socket joint, which means that the rounded head of a bone fits neatly into a cuplike hollow. In the case of the hip joint, the ball-shaped head of the femur, which is the upper leg bone, sits inside a socket within the hip, known as the acetabulum. The surfaces of the femur and the hip socket are lined with cartilage, a smooth and springy connective tissue that cushions the joint and helps reduce friction. A membrane known as the synovium produces a thick liquid that lubricates and nourishes the interior of the joint. Fluid-filled sacs known as bursae act as cushions and protect the muscles and tendons as they move over bony areas within the joint. Muscles, ligaments and tendons anchor the hip joint and provide power, stability and flexibility.

The most common reason for a hip replacement is damage to the parts of the joint that reduce pressure and eliminate friction. This often occurs due to osteoarthritis, a degenerative condition in which the tissues of the joint begin to deteriorate, and rheumatoid arthritis, a chronic inflammatory disorder. Injuries, fractures, wear-and-tear due to overuse or being overweight, and cancer, while less common, also can lead to the need for a hip replacement.

One of the main symptoms that the joint may need to be replaced is significant and persistent pain. This occurs while walking, sitting, standing or bending over, and often is severe enough to wake you from sleep. It interferes with the ability to carry out daily activities and impairs quality of life. Imaging tests that reveal arthritis, or damage to the bone or tissues of the joint from other causes, also may signal the need for joint replacement.

A hip replacement is major surgery. It entails removing the damaged or diseased tissues and replacing them with an artificial joint. Post-surgical physical therapy is a big part of a successful outcome, and full recovery can take from six months to a year. It is important to note that the new joint lasts about 15 years, after which it will need to be replaced again. Before diving into the deep end, your health care provider is likely to ask you to explore noninvasive interventions. These include rest, physical therapy, weight loss, using a cane and a range of anti-inflammatory or pain medications. If these fail to provide adequate relief, or if the medications are not tolerated, then a new joint may be the best option.

If you do opt for a hip replacement, find a reputable and experienced surgeon. You want someone who is board certified in orthopedic surgery, specializes in hip replacement, has experience with your specific condition and accepts your insurance.

DIVINE DESTINY

As children we attempt to determine the unknown. What profession will we choose? Will we marry and have a family? Where will we live? As we grow there are many forks in the road, even basic decisions can be difficult. Yet, when we shape our lives with God at the center, the journey is easier. If we design our lives with God's will in mind, we will reap the wisdom of His Word, the serenity borne of faith, and the strength for untold tomorrows. Worship each week and follow your divine destiny.

2019 School Corporation Annual Performance Report (APR)

General Explanations

The APR is a report on the performance of schools and school corporations (districts) in your area. The goal is to provide information regarding the progress schools are making to help students become college-and–career ready. Where possible, this report contains three years of data to show trends – not just this year’s results. In addition, the State Average is also shown for comparison purposes. There are additional indicators that are available on the Indiana Department of Education’s Web site (compass.doe.in.gov), including data broken out by different student subgroups, such as race, gender, income level and special education.

Indiana educators and citizens have developed higher academic standards for all students. These standards are necessary to prepare Indiana students to be successful in life, whether they go directly to higher education or to the workplace. The scores for ILEARN/ISTEP+ are listed under each school to reflect student progress toward those standards. For high schools, you also will see graduation rates and the percentage of graduates who plan to go on to college.

Other important data are provided, such as average attendance rates and indicators of school safety, including expulsions and suspensions. Also included is information about your school corporation, such as how much is spent, on average, for each student; how much teachers are paid; and the percentage of corporation students who are in special education classes or gifted and talented classes.

Metropolitan School District of Wabash County
Goals for Expenditure Categories

Public Law 191-2006 (HEA 1006) establishes four categories of expenditures in a school corporation's budget: The State Board of Education has approved the following definitions:

1. Student academic expenditures
2. Student instructional support expenditures
3. Overhead and operational expenditures
4. Non-operational expenditures

The school corporation must establish goals for each category that will increase the corporation's allocation of taxpayer resources to student academic and instructional support.

Category Goals

1. The Metropolitan School District of Wabash County will make every effort to maintain the current levels of expenditures for student academic and instructional support for the next fiscal year. However, increases in those areas may not be plausible due to:
 - a) A decline in enrollment and a subsequent decline in revenue, and
 - b) A potential reduction in certified and classified staff due to the current needs of the corporation.

- c) All decisions will be made without compromising the essential academic and instructional support of our students.

2. The Metropolitan School District of Wabash County will make every effort to decrease the overhead and operational expenses without compromising the academic needs of our students by:
 - a) Continue filing for e-rate reimbursement.
 - b) Use the Region 8 Educational Service Center for purchasing and professional development opportunities.
 - c) Conservation of utilities and food service expenditures.
 - d) Consolidation of schools services and overhead expense.

Parents still in the dark about sibling’s sexual abuse

DEAR ABBY: I was sexually abused by a sibling for 10 years during my childhood. I never told anyone what happened to me until I confided in my fiancé after we were engaged. I have gone through counseling sessions and am at a place in my life where I am happy and healthy.

Dear Abby

Currently, I have a relationship with my parents, but not with my sibling. My parents often express their wish for me to have a relationship with my sibling, but I always refuse. I feel that telling them what happened at this point would only cause hurt for them. But I also feel that if I tell them, I can stop getting asked uncomfortable questions. What do you suggest? – Survivor In South Dakota

DEAR SURVIVOR: I suggest you tell your parents everything. It’s something you should have done years ago. Do not worry about hurting them. Once they have all the facts, they will understand why you want nothing to do with your sibling and stop pushing you to have a relationship with your abuser, and that’s the goal.

DEAR ABBY: I have been in a relationship with a man for five years, and we are deeply in love. We want to spend the rest of our lives together, but it bothers me that he wants to go into the military for three to five years. He says he wants me to wait for him, but three to five years seems like a lifetime to me. I can’t help but feel like he is prioritizing his desire to serve his country over me and years of our life together. – Civilian In The East

DEAR CIVILIAN: It would be interesting to know how old you and your boyfriend are. I assume you are both young and graduating from high school.

This is not necessarily a question of where his priorities lie. While three to five years seems like a large chunk of time, the military may provide your boyfriend with the chance to decide what he wants to do career-wise with his life. It would also provide benefits that could positively affect his future – and yours – once his term of service is finished. If you feel unable to wait for him, you should let him go.

DEAR ABBY: My mother is 88 and in a nursing home. While cleaning out her apartment, I found her will. With it there was a handwritten note stating that my son should get my mother’s diamond ring. The ring is unique and special. The note specifically said that my sister’s kids should not get the ring because they didn’t act like they loved her, while my son did. The note instructed my son to give the ring to his wife.

I have not shown the note to my sister because I know she will be upset. I want to give the ring to my son. I know my sister will see the ring on my daughter-in-law’s finger and know it was my mom’s. My sister will wonder how she got the ring. What should I do? – Hurt In Ohio

DEAR HURT: Do not approach your sister with this information until you have spoken to an attorney. Show him or her the will you found in your mother’s apartment and the note that was with it. If your mom is able, have the ring details added to the will. In order to avoid any misunderstandings and a possible rift in the family, your sister should be given a copy of both. After that, take your lead from the attorney.

Dear Abby is written by Abigail Van Buren, also known as Jeanne Phillips, and was founded by her mother, Pauline Phillips. Contact Dear Abby at www.DearAbby.com or P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, CA 90069.

Christians must look at the world through Christ’s eyes

From the writings of the Rev. Billy Graham

Q: I hear Americans talk about the hatred between political parties being at an all-time high, and I suppose it is. But can’t they learn from past history in order to shape a worldview that is worthwhile? – H.P.

A: The Berlin Wall is an example of division that a political climate can create; for it was a grim metaphor of mankind’s capacity for hatred, stretching 29 miles through the heart of the German capital, encompassing the entire frontier. Guard stations with lookout towers and machine gun posts along its length monitored no-man’s-land between East and West, making West Berlin more like a prison camp than a civilized European city. For nearly three decades, hundreds of men, women, and children were gunned down by communist guards as they tried to cross that hostile killing field to freedom. The Scriptures declare, “Look among the nations and watch – be utterly astounded! For I will work a work in your days which you would not believe, though it were told you” (Habakkuk 1:5). The mighty claims of the Lord give us a hint of the power that God will unleash at the close of the age. The events that have transpired on the continent of Europe since the summer of 1989 help us to understand just how awesome God’s plans for the world really are.

Sadly, generations often turn a deaf ear to history, or simply rewrite it to their liking. Christians are to look at the world through the eyes of Christ. Instead, the sports world, the entertainment field, and the arenas of politics, education, and technology have stripped society of truth. The people of God – the church – is to be the pacesetter. God’s Word about mankind and the nations is the only worldview that counts.
